

Student Chaplains for 2007-08

Alicia Crosby '08

Alicia's chaplaincy focuses on the exhortation of the Hollins Christian community with consideration given to the organization of educational and leadership initiatives for the Christian community, aiding students in finding houses of worship as well as on- and off-campus ministries to connect with, helping to plan and acquire funding for programming with special focus given to music ministry outreach.

Katy Fleming '09

Katy's chaplaincy focuses on the organization of off-campus outreach with consideration given to working with youth who are in the Coyner Springs Juvenile Detention Center as well as the Virginia Baptist Home.

St.Jon Clark '10

St.Jon's chaplaincy focuses on the publishing of the Student Chaplaincy Facebook group site (with the assistance of all student chaplains) as well as a newsletter that publishes similar content, organization of a permanent J-term internship with the National Episcopalian Cathedral in Washington, D.C., support of Chaplain Fuller during the Reunion of Spiritual Communities, which includes the leading of a breakout session to solicit alumnae input on the development of Hollins as a center of excellence for women in ministry.

Rosalie Kell '09

Rosalie's chaplaincy has a focus in prayer. Her ecumenical "Prayer Works! Project" provides students with an opportunity to release concerns or joys to God through the organization of a network of campus prayer boxes.

Patricia Cope '09

Patricia's chaplaincy focuses on the establishment of a multid denominational Christian discussion group.

Becky Dab '10

Becky's chaplaincy focuses on attending to the needs of the Hollins Jewish community through leading on-campus religious services such as those that surround Shabbat and Chanukah.

Debbie Chow '09

Debbie's chaplaincy focuses on educating the Hollins community about religious diversity. Through the creation and dispersal of weekly publications about different global religious traditions, Debbie helps to motivate students to think outside of their personal religious contexts.

Martha Gregor '08

Martha's chaplaincy is an extension of her work as SRLA president. Martha helps lead and plan a variety of spiritual and religious outreach initiatives at Hollins that aid in the unification of the student body across religious and denominational lines.
