

Pre-Health Sciences

ADVISOR: Brian Gentry (physics)

As the allied health industry has grown in the past few decades, students now have many choices for a career in the health sciences professions besides seeking their M.D., including dentistry, occupational therapy, optometry, pharmacy, midwifery, genetic counseling, physical therapy, and physician's assistant. Hollins offers individualized advising to help navigate preparation for today's rapidly changing health professions. The requirements for each professional program can be fulfilled within multiple Hollins' majors but as program requirements differ, close attention to course selection and extracurricular activities is needed. Please contact Professor Gentry for more information on advising and suggested courses for the desired professional program.
