MAJOR, MINOR

PROFESSOR: Richard H.W. Dillard (English)
ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR: Amy Gerber-Stroh (chair)
ASSISTANT PROFESSOR: Nathan Lee

The film major provides a thorough grounding in the field, balancing instruction in film and video production with courses in the history, aesthetics, and cultural import of these arts. The major culminates in a senior capstone consisting of a filmmaking, research, or screenplay project. Skills developed in the Film major can be applied to careers in film and television, the visual arts, advertising, journalism, public relations, publishing, teaching, and others.

COURSES IN FILM:

FILM 171: INTRODUCTION TO FILM AS ART (4)

Lee

An introduction to the art of narrative film and how dramatic and visual elements, including editing, cinematography, set design, sound, and performance, create meaning. Topics also covered include the materials and methods of film making, the major styles and genres of film, and film's relationship to history. Open to first-year students. No prerequisite. Offered both terms. (AES, MOD)

FILM 175: INTRODUCTION TO THE STUDY OF ARTS ADMINISTRATION (4)

Krause

What is happening behind the scenes at an art museum, an opera production, or a dance performance? This course explores the commonalities and peculiarities of the administration of various arts organizations through site visits, guest experts, and written projects such as grant proposals and strategic plans. Also listed as ART/DANC/MUS/THEA 175. Not offered in 2022-23. (r)

FILM 233: HORROR FILMS (4)

Lee

In this course, we will examine the form and politics of the horror film, as well as consider its status as a self-referential genre that deconstructs both its own conventions and film spectatorship itself. Films under study may include Psycho, Halloween, The Shining, Scream, and Get Out, with readings from Carol Clover among others. Not offered in 2022-23.

FILM 235: FILM NOIR (4)

Lee

An introduction to the film noir genre, from its origins in hardboiled literature to its legacy today. Most of the course will be devoted to its peak in the postwar era, but some attention will also be given to its influence on contemporary neo-noir. Possible films under discussion include The Maltese Falcon, Double Indemnity, Sunset Blvd., Strangers on a Train, Touch of Evil, Chinatown, Fargo, L.A. Confidential, and Brick. Open to first-year students. No prerequisite. Not offered in 2022-23. (AES, MOD)

FILM 250: SPECIAL TOPIC: CRITICAL ISSUES IN FILM STUDIES (4)

Lee

This course introduces students to the key developments and debates that have shaped the field of film studies. Beginning with the emergence of cinema in the context of modernity and the rise of 20th-century mass media, we will examine such concepts as realism and illusionism, spectacle and narrative, spectatorship and identity, as well as how matters of race, gender, and sexuality have been implicated in cinematic representation. Framed by the historical development of the medium, this course will emphasize the history of ideas that have analyzed cinema as a distinct and ever-changing art form. The course will conclude by examining the technological, aesthetic, and industrial effects of digital technology on cinema. Offered Term 1.

FILM 271: WORLD CINEMA (4)

Lee

This course will examine the cinemas and media industries of several countries across the globe. These may include, but are not limited to, France, Spain, Germany, Sweden, Denmark, Finland, Russia, Romania, Italy, Japan, China, Iran, Israel, Nigeria, Senegal, Mali, Brazil, Mexico, Argentina, and Cuba. Film screenings will supplement the pertinent issues of national identity, as well as historical and contemporary political issues. This course will also focus on the key filmmakers, genres, and movements. Open to first-year students. No prerequisite. Not offered in 2022-23. (AES, MOD)

FILM 272: AMERICAN CINEMA (4)

Lee

The course is a basic introduction to cinema in the U.S. Viewing a broad range of films from classical Hollywood to the visionary experimental to socially dynamic documentaries and independent films, students will discover new ways of understanding how the terms of "American" and "cinema" define one another. Open to first-year students. No prerequisite. Offered Term 2. (AES, MOD)

FILM 276: PHILANTHROPY AND THE ARTS (4)

Krause

This course is helpful to students interested in arts management as well as anyone anticipating a career in the nonprofit sector. The two major components of the course are the understanding of philanthropy in the U.S. and the attainment of skills necessary to obtain philanthropic gifts. Assignments may include grant writing, site visits, and oral presentations. No prerequisite. Also listed as ART/DANC/MUS/THEA 276. Offered Term 2.

FILM 280: FILM PRODUCTION (4)

Gerber-Stroh

An introductory production course concentrating on the art of 16mm filmmaking. Students produce their own individual films, including a final project. The course consists of screenings, discussions, instruction, and critique. Students learn equipment usage, exposure, stock processing, lighting and cinematography, concept development, and the full range of editing modes. Open to first-year students. Sophomore standing recommended. No prerequisite. $100 lab fee. Offered Term 1. (CRE)

FILM 281: VIDEO PRODUCTION (4)

Gerber-Stroh

A comprehensive hands-on beginner's course in digital video making. Students work on their own individual projects, including a final project. The class covers the basic skills for making a short digital narrative, documentary, or experimental from concept development to finished piece. Course format includes screenings, discussions, technical instruction, and critique. Open to first-year students. No prerequisite. Offered both terms. (CRE)

FILM 282: THE ART OF SOUND DESIGN (4)

Gerber-Stroh

The process of recording and creating high quality sound is a critical skill to master when making films, videos, webcasts, and numerous other visual and performing arts.
